Previous Goals

<Blank this week>

Oct. 11 - 17 Progress

- This week I was able to select the features I wanted to handle for our project. Trello was quite easy to use and I was able to get my user stories on there in the backlog.
- Thankfully, there was nothing troubling this week and everything went by smoothly.
- I learned from the personal assignment how to get started in flask with a route and view for the project.
- The project is coming together a little slowly for me but it is making more sense

Plans and Goals for Oct. 18 - 24

- Learning how to wireframe and creating at least a model of the homepage for the project
- Learning about what ethical considerations we have for the project
- Once wireframe is done, begin the basic HTML view and push to repository
- Communicate more with team members
