Previous Goals

- Once wireframe is done, begin the basic HTML view and push to repository
- Learn more about how to use flask for navigation
- Create a data flow diagram for our project
- Complete the status reports

Oct. 25 - 31 Progress

- This week I updated my flask notes app with some more routes and views to implement the CREATE of CRUD. I was able to update it so that the user can create some notes. I also worked on our project milestone and created the models and associations. We worked on updating our wireframes as well with route name and data transferral.

- I learned how to update wireframes with more information so that it can easily translate to code. With the route name and models we made, I can see how the planning before code can make coding the application easier.

- I did have some trouble completing the wireframes on time.

Plans and Goals for Nov. 1 - 7

- Learn how to implement a database into Flask
- Learn more about testing and how to test our current project
- Establish smoother communication in the group to get work done efficiently
